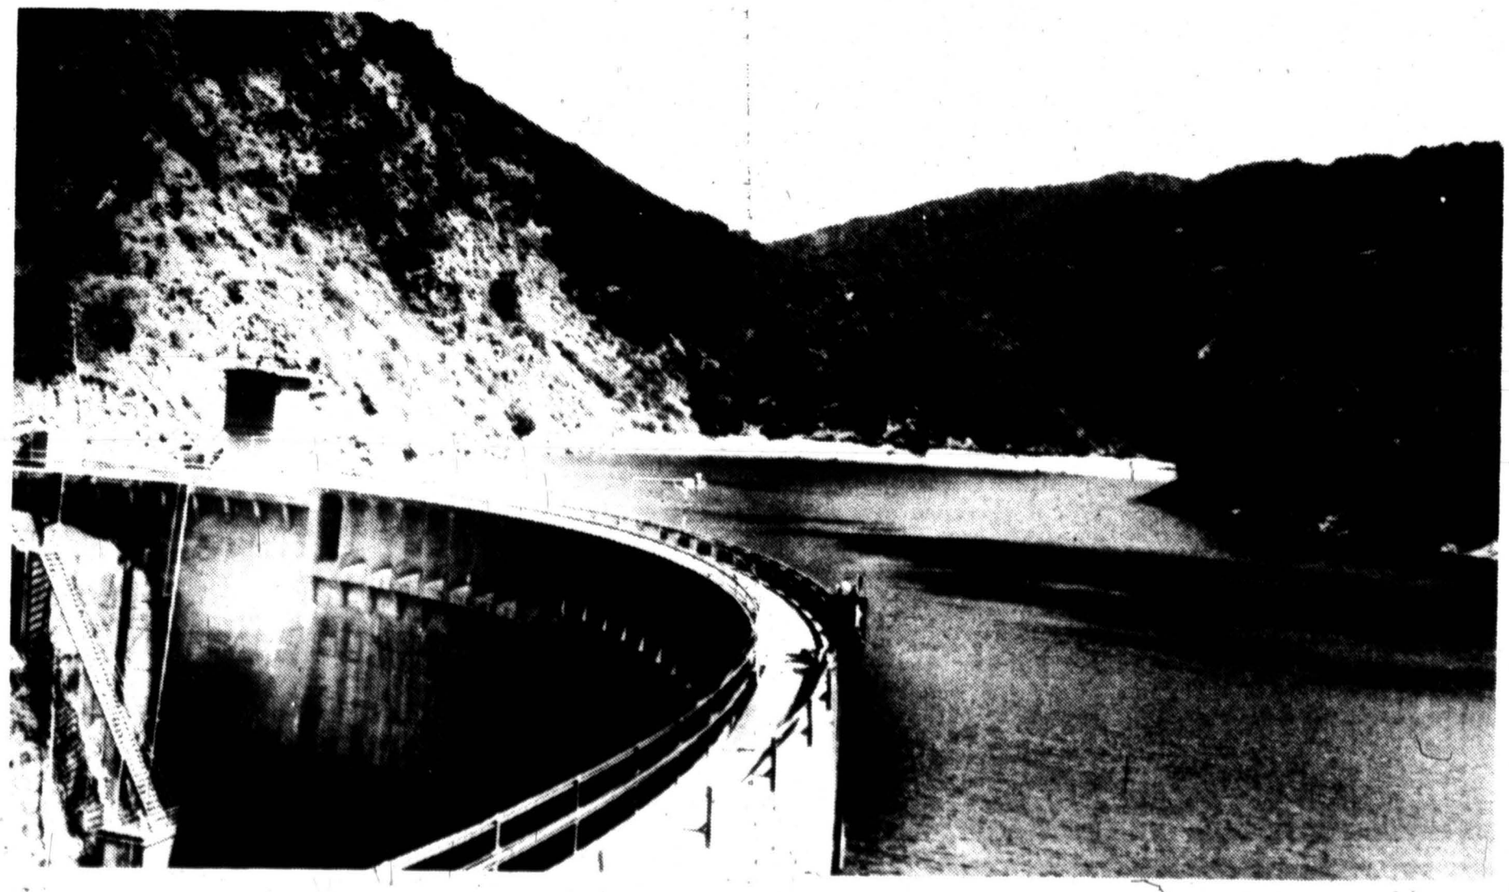
OUR 73RD YEAR, NO. 52 — December 29, 1987

The Year in Review 1987

1987's Top Four

ALTHOUGH IT can be debated from now until the end of next year, the top four news stories of the year fell under four general categories: growth and the various attempts to control it in the community, visits by foreign dignitaries, the May 31st fire in Pebble Beach and its far-ranging repercussions, and water, more specifically the EIR and advisory vote on the proposed dam on the Carmel River and election of three candidates to the board of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District. At top, a full house often greeted the Carmel Planning Commission during deliberations and public hearings on the revision of the city's general plan, the city's "blueprint" for the future. Above left, Pope John Paul II greeted visitors in the courtyard at the Carmel Mission on his whirlwind one-day visit to the peninsula in September. Above right, a resident of Pebble Beach looks at what's left of a relative's wheelchair, which had to be abandoned in the May 31st fire which destroyed 32 homes. At right is a view of the existing San Clemente Dam, which would be inundated by the proposed new dam, which has so far faced a rocky road in the past year. (Holly McFarland photos.)



LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Letters are subject to editing for style and length. Each letter must contain name, address and signature. A phone number is needed for verification only. Anonymous letters are not accepted.

Christmas surprise

Dear Editor:

A wonderful Christmas surprise was delivered to the young people of Carmel by On the Beach shop last week.

The visit by Rob Roskopp and Keith Meeks was well-organized, giving the fans ample opportunity to meet the guests and obtain autographs (whither making a purchase or not).

The demonstration at River School was an added bonus for the skateboarding fans.

It's refreshing to see a Carmel business cater to the locals and the youth — two minority groups often overlooked by Carmel merchants.

On the Beach will remain one of the few businesses in Carmel to receive by repeat patronge; many thanks for their hospitality.

Parking provided

Dear Editor:

As far as the Harrison Memorial Library is concerned, Mr. May seems extremely badly informed. In his letter Dec. 22 about the proposed parking garage at Sixth and Lincoln, he writes, "The library gets hurt. It forgets its contract rights in parking land and the ultimate loss of a new source of revenue from parking and other linkage fees. It gets no assurance of adequate patron and employee parking." This statement is simply not true.

On Sept. 5, 1967 litigation about the ownership of lot 19 was settled by a stipulated judgment providing in part that the property was deeded by all parties to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and a lease was drawn up permitting the library to use the property for any library purpose until 2007. The lease specifically forbade the library's assigning or subletting the leased property or any part thereof without permission of the city. This lease was adopted by the council of April 3, 1968, and a further agreement (June 5, 1968), specified that the lot might be used for parking until the library was ready to build: that signs should be posted "Library Patrons Only," and that two spaces should be reserved for library staff.

When a parking garage came under consideration, the library trustees and the city renegotiated the lease. Among other items, the new lease provides that if a parking facility is built, nine spaces (one more than the library has now) shall be designated for library purposes — six for patrons and three for staff; that restroom facilities on the property shall be available for library patrons and staff, and if the parking garage is not built, the library shall be entitled to exercise its right to park on the lot pursuant to the lease mentioned above.

This matter was discussed several times by the library board; at its meeting of Nov. 17 the board approved it with minor changes; the city council approved it with the changes at its meeting of Dec. 8. The agenda and minutes of the library board's meeting are always available for inspection at the library. If Mr. May had taken the precaution of looking at the documents or of asking the library director or any of the trustees about them, he could have saved himself some embarrassment.

In summary then, the library never had the right to obtain money from parking fees on lot 19; it has forgone none of its rights to parking but has in fact enhanced them; it has binding legal assurance in the form of a lease good until 2007 that its parking is protected.

Avoiding errors

Dear Editor:

The major remaining developable property in Carmel consists of property in the R-4 district. These properties are commonly referred to as the upper and lower lumberyards, or the Hayward Lumber Co. and the Murphy property, respectively.

At issue is whether to require an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) on these properties in addition to the other developed property in the R-4 district. At the last city council meeting (Dec. 8), members of the council delayed voting on this issue until negotiations were completed in acquiring the Hayward Lumber Co. site.

An EIR offers the potential of avoiding serious development errors. How many of us have observed examples of shoddy property development? — Probably most! Then consider, how many years later have we continued to see these eyesores blighting the landscape?

While I know of nothing that is infallible, I believe an EIR will assist in avoiding gross developement errors. Therefore, I urge all Carmel residents to join in letting there be no doubt in our city council's collective mind, that we, the residents, want an EIR on the R-4 district.

Not ripe for pursuit

Dear Editor:

At the December meeting of the Carmel City Council, the council postponed action on the recommendation of the planning commission to initiate an environmental impact report on the R-4 Specific Plan. This deferment has generated letters to the city council which express concern that the postponement is, in essence, a decision not to do an EIR. This is not the case and I want to explain my reasons as well as what I see were the reasons of a majority of the council members not to proceed with an expensive EIR at this time.

The city council authorized an appraisal of the Handley property, the largest undeveloped land holding in the R-4 zoning district. The appraisal was to assist the council in determining whether it desired to pursue acquisition of the property for public purposes. The appraisal has been received and negotiations have been occurring between the city and representatives of the property owner. The potential impacts which could result if the Specific Plan is adopted would most likely originate from the Handley property. If the city acquires that property, a process to develop the potential uses will occur. Without a determination of the uses for the property, it was the decision of a majority of the members of the council that the EIR is not ripe for pursuit. An EIR on the Specific Plan uses for the property, as well as unspecified public uses, would most likely result in the need for a supplemental EIR at such time as the city developed the property, assuming municipal acquisition. Thus, it does not seem fiscally prudent to do two EIRs.

The council decided that it would not pursue the EIR until it is known whether the Handley property will be owned by the city. The council is hopeful that the negotiations can be wrapped up in the near future and the environmental review can commence being based on the actual uses for the largest undeveloped property in the district and not on unknown or hypothetical uses.

Affront to credibility

Dear Editor:

There seems to be a very big flaw in the recent trial between Laub and the city of Carmel.

In question is Laub's credibility. Paul Laub is many things to many people but one thing he is not, is a liar. Anyone who has ever really known Mr. Laub or worked for him knows well that truth and honesty in general is an ideal that Luab holds more sacred than any other.

He is an ingenious entrepreneur who takes his planning and strategy seriously, but nevertheless he has always operated within the bounds of truthfulness. Perhaps it is a jealousy of his strategic abilities that has caused this erroneous affront to his credibility.

GUEST EDITORIAL

By Robert H. Evans

Petitions

IF 1,337 people sign a petition demanding an environmental impact report on the R-4 Specific Plan developed by the planning commission, the city council should at once accede — right? Before you jump to this conclusion, here are some things to consider.

First, we should understand that demand for an EIR has often become shorthand for the opponents of a project to delay, dilute, run up costs and otherwise discourage both government and property owners. Those circulating the R-4 petition made no bones about this; they were hardly rooting for an EIR to vindicate the specific plan.

The irony is that R-4 was carved out of the commercial district originally as a means of increasing the housing stock in Carmel in combination with residentially oriented businesses. The specific plan was devised to provide reasonably affordable smaller apartments for the many Carmel employees who now commute from other areas and for people who in later life want smaller units.

In front of the post office, petition gatherers were heard saying, "Do you want to stop 103 apartments from being built on the lumberyard?" They knew, but many of the signers did not, that without the low-income housing density bonus already declined by the owners, the maximum number of the units on the Handley property itself would be 57 and on the Murphy property 30. Both numbers would be reduced to the extent of any resident-oriented commercial space. Some people even gained the impression that the R-4 Specific Plan called for an enlargement of the commercial area at the expense of R-1.

This isn't to suggest that there was any deliberate intent to deceive, but there is simply no way that in a few minutes outside the post office one can explain complicated issues that have been studied over many months by the planning commission and staff. Thus it gets boiled down to the scare tactic of 103 units.

Recognizing that the EIR petition was basically a front for opposition to the Specific Plan itself, let's consider some of the factors ignored by the petition process that the planning commission took into account:

1) Preservation of the viewshed at the northeast corner.

2) Lower density of 33 units per acre along Torres Street.

3) Open space requirement of 48 percent to 50 percent of total area.

4) Minimum landscape area of 20 percent of site.

5) Requirement of off-street, on-site parking.

6) In the area away from R-1, encouragement of more small and relatively affordable units, rather than fewer large units beyond the means of the average tenant, accomplished by a higher permitted density within the same total mass — in other words, marbles instead of ping pong balls within the allowed cubic area, thereby alleviating a crying housing need.

7) An independent traffic study from Wilbur Smith Associates which evaluated the traffic impact and proposed feasible mitigations.

8) An in-house environmental study which justified a negative declaration of necessity for an EIR.

The planning commission also had to consider the rights of the property owners who for 10 years had in effect been denied any reasonable development. The free enterprise concept mentioned in a recent guest editorial (Dec. 17) does not include denial of these rights.

Finally, an overriding consideration is that the city has started negotiations to buy the Handley property, a new development since the specific plan. If this is done, decisions will have to be made about the combination of uses that would be most advantageous for all of us. This so alters the picture that a majority of the city council felt it would be a waste of public funds to undertake an expensive EIR prematurely and perhaps have to repeat the process later.

Without disparaging the petition process, it is fair to suggest that if all the facts bearing on the situation could have been explained thoroughly (and even the above is an abbreviation), substantial numbers of the signers might have been willing to let the city council exercise the judgment that ultimately rests on it.

Young citizens' alert

Dear Editor:

Government of Carmel in the '80s should in heavy measure have the value judgments of the city's younger citizen voters who will be alive well into the next century to endure the current government's decisions. The ideas of our younger citizens can serve to guard all features of Carmel Village life for the needs and the comforts and the pleasures of later generations.

It would be prime insurance for the proper protection of Carmel if its younger members would organize their strengths now and assure that the requirements they perceive desirable for Carmel life in the 21st century are given due attention by today's government.

1988 may be the year that the younger citizen voters of Carmel-by-the-Sea will become alert and unite and work to assist their government.

Necessary pylons

Dear Editor:

The slope of land space via Hatton Canyon to the Carmel River is such that no prudent, safe, legal roadway can be constructed there without using massive, tailored concrete pylons. This fact was attested after hours of technical study by Caltrans and the transportation commission staff which served the former governor.

If one contravenes state rules and safety needs, the future is both bleak and dangerous. When elected officials and public frustrations led to renewed calls for that roadway, no one now appears to have known that the slope requires overpasses, ugliness and a degradation of businesses serving tourists and locals at the mouth of the Carmel River. Without massive concrete pylons, there can be no roadway on the slope nature provided.

Those persons unable to accept a raised, tapered roadway had better speak out against it and explore creative alternatives.

JANUARY

The Carmel Planning Commission with a 5-1 vote turns down attorney George Walker's bid to remove the Countess Claude Kinnoull estate from the specific plan review process.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Clint Eastwood asks 4,200 Carmel registered voters if they are in favor of Carmel Beach Restoration Project Phase II. A little more than 1,200 postcards are returned with 73 percent in favor of the plan.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council approves 4-1, $750,00 for the Carmel Beach Restoration Project Phase II and gives a thumbs-up to an application to the state Coastal Conservancy for $200,000 in grant monies for the project. Councilwoman Elinor Laiolo casts the dissenting vote.

★ ★ ★

Amid protests from several citizens, the Carmel City Council establishes an ad hoc committee to explore the feasibility of using the now vacant Crocker Bank building on the corner of Mission Street and Sixth Avenue to house the Harrison Memorial Library Annex. Councilmen Bob Evans and Bob Fischer are appointed to the committee.

★ ★ ★

A report by an independent consultant states that water pollution in the Robles del Rio and Carmel Valley Village is high and a wastewater collection and treatment plant is strongly needed.

★ ★ ★

Celebrations and special events mark the centennial year of poet Robinson Jeffers' birth.

★ ★ ★

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District votes to begin an environmental impact report process on its allocation system. The city of Carmel had requested the allocation EIR in a lawsuit it filed against the district last year.

★ ★ ★

Carmel submits its response to Caltrans about proposed Hatton Canyon Freeway. The city council chooses "Alternative No. 1," which extends the four-lane freeway from the Holman Highway/Highway 1 interchange south through Hatton Canyon to Rio Road. The council expresses some reservations about the project, however.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council votes 6-1, with Councilman James Wright dissenting, to proceed with the concept of an underground parking garage in conjunction with the proposed senior citizen housing project on the corner of Dolores Street and Fifth Avenue.

★ ★ ★

Monterey Superior Court Judge Richard Silver tosses out Carmel entrepreneur Paul Laub's "motion to strike" which asks for a dismissal of Carmel's lawsuit against Laub. Silver says the suit is "premature." The city's lawsuit against Laub alleges he has no business license for his operations in Paradise Mall.

★ ★ ★

Financing for final studies for the completion of a draft environmental impact reporttatement about the proposed New San Clemente Dam are approved by the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board.

★ ★ ★

The recently created Carmel Recreation Commission meets for the first time.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council strolls down Carmel Beach and listens to a geologist and coastal biologist give an update on cliff conditions. The walk was suggested by Councilwoman Elinor Laiolo, who remains opposed to the beach restoration plan.

Monterey County forwards to Caltrans its recommendation urging certification of the environmental impact statement on the Hatton Canyon Freeway project. In its letter to Caltrans, the county urges the state to certify the document and reaffirms the county's preference for a freeway constructed on the Hatton Canyon route.

THE R-4 district and the fate of the Hayward Lumber Co. site, with its spectacular views and large tracts of land available for development, remained a hot topic during the last half of the year. Neighbors of the district organized a petition drive which garnered more than 1,300 signatures asking for an environmental impact report about a specific plan developed by the planning commission. The plan would allow more than 100 new apartments in the R-4 district. (Holly McFarland photo.)

★ ★ ★

Popular swim coach Larry Challis resigns as coach of the Barracuda Aquatics Swim Club and Carmel High School swim teams.

The Carmel Planning Commission approves an expansion of the Carmel Presbyterian Church despite the opposition of two former planning commissioners and other residents. The church is located in the residential zone. The majority of commissioners state they feel a church is an important aspect of village life and therefore an expansion is supported by the general plan.

The former planning commissioners state that the last church expansion was allowed only with the condition it not expand more, it is a public building, not a residence and that the proposed two-story addition is too large for the residential district.

FEBRUARY

The Carmel City Council votes to pursue the purchase of vacated Crocker Bank buildingfor the Harrison Memorial Library annex. The council discusses an idea to sell a portion of Mission Trail Park to help pay for the property to the Carmel Planning Commission for review.

★ ★ ★

A Carmel Area Land Use Plan concept to build a parking lot for Monastary Beach meets with stiff opposition from neighbors.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council authorizes City Atty. Don Freeman to amend a part of Carmel's municipal code to make it legal for residents to park on Scenic Road up to one-half hour after sunset.

★ ★ ★

Despite conflicting reports from engineers, protests from neighbors and the Sierra Club, the Carmel Planning Commission voted to recommend to the city council it waive an environmental impact report on the Louise Bennett property development.

★ ★ ★

The first Monterey Film Festival is held on the peninsula.

★ ★ ★

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board votes against funding any new projects due to financing woes. A sewage connection moratorium has the district projecting substantal revenue losses from the lack of new water connection fees.

★ ★ ★

Voluntary water rationing may be requested this summer if the rains don't fall by April.

★ ★ ★

Friends of Photography executive director James Alinder announces he is resigning his post in June.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency puts the kibosh on parts of the environmental impact report for parts of the Hatton Canyon Freeway project. The move forces Caltrans to regroup and possibly have to delay issuance of the final copy of the document. That will also delay a decision on the project.

★ ★ ★

The city of Carmel declares there will be no new lots of record until the water allocation problem is settled with the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District. The move was prompted by the fact the California Coastal Commission has suspended hearing any Carmel applications until there is water for vacant lots of record.

★ ★ ★

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors votes against a school district request to consolidate all the special elections to even numbered years. Consolidation would overburden the county elections facilities, the supervisors stated, and it would cost to much money to alleviate that problem.

★ ★ ★

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors vote to adopt a resolution to fight any further offshore oil leasing in the state. Monterey County would be adversely affected by offshore drilling, according to the supervisors.

MARCH

Ignoring the advice of the city engineer and city attorney, the Carmel City Council decides not to require an environmental impact report on all lots in the Louise Bennett property's develoment plan.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council denies permission to the Carmel Presbyterian Church's for a two-story expansion with underground garage at the Carmel Presbyterian Church. The decision overturns the planning commission's recommendation.

The council found the expansion not in keeping with the city's general plan and previous permits forbade any more additions to the church. Church leaders immediately write a letter asking that the council reconsider its decision.

★ ★ ★

An underground parking garage at the north end of Sunset Center is proposed by a Monterey-based planning firm, EMC Planning Group Inc., with building costs being picked up at no cost to the city.

★ ★ ★

Resident Howard Nieman Jr. states he finds many of the General Plan Review Committee's proposed changes troubling and says they deregulate the city's commercial district.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council amends its water policies to allow construction on vacant lots of record and pending projects but excludes other applications which increase water use in the city.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel Planning Commission begins to take public input on controversial proposed changes to the Carmel General Plan. The first hearing at Sunset Center reviewing changes to the Land Use Element draws about 140 participants after a local citizen group, with anonymous membership, the Sierra Club and The Carmel Pine Cone give the upcoming meetings much publicity.

Almost all comments are either against the changes or amend the wording of the new policies. The planning commission started the hearings after the General Plan Review Committee finished a year's worth of work on the document.

★ ★ ★

The California Coastal Conservancy unanimously approved a $200,000 grant earmarked for Phase II of the Beach Restoration Project.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Supreme Court narrowly rules that state environmental issues outweigh federal land use permits at Pico Blanco in the Los Padres National Forest.

★ ★ ★

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors receives more than $8,000 for the Big Sur Preservation Fund which will in turn help fund an open-space initiative proposed for the November 1988 ballot.

APRIL

The Carmel City Council Chambers are filled with concerned citizens as the planning commission decides that the proposed sale of the Flanders Mansion and Martin Way property is against the dictates of the general plan. Both properties are in Mission Trail Park. Members of the audience present the commission with a 500-signature petition opposing the sale.

★ ★ ★

About 800 youngsters participate in Awareness Day at Carmel High School. The day is to promote education on topics like AIDS, drugs, self-esteem and sexual abuse.

★ ★ ★

A survey of parents bears out what Carmel Unified School District board members have suspected for quite some time: there is a definite need for child care within the district.

★ ★ ★

A new organization called Carmel Residents Association is formed from a group that has been handing out controversial "blue sheets" focusing on the proposed changes in Carmel's general plan.

★ ★ ★

Another hurdle is vaulted in the purchase of the Crocker Bank building as an annex for the Harrison Memorial Library as the Carmel City Council unanimously accepts a purchase price of $1.75 million from Wells Fargo Bank for the building.

★ ★ ★

An almost 8-year-old injunction limiting development in Carmel Valley is lifted by Monterey Superior Court Judge Richard Silver and the county planning department starts to figure out how to implement the long-awaited Carmel Valley Master Plan.

★ ★ ★

The Carmel City Council votes to require an environmental impact report on the Louise Bennett property development as advised by City Atty. Don Freeman.

★ ★ ★

At a city council meeting, Mayor Clint Eastwood lashes into local businessman Paul Laub about "Clintville," a store Laub owns in Paradise Mall. Eastwood calls the store a blight on the city.

★ ★ ★

A telephone survey seeking public sentiment on theater expansion at Sunset Center shows the majority of peninsula residents surveyed favor a new, larger facility.

The Year in Review 1987

THE SALE of the city-owned Martin Way property, pictured above, and adjoining Flanders Mansion in Mission Trail Park remained an open question before the Carmel City Council. Meetings about selling the property to raise funds to buy the vacated Crocker Bank building as a library annex drew a great deal of interest and generated a petition against the proposal that compiled over 500 signatures in three days. (Holly McFarland photo.)

Center is too big for Carmel and would create parking problems in the surrounding residential district. The commission recommends to the city council that it find the theater not in compliance with the city's general plan.

★★★

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors approve an interim ordinance in order to begin processing applications within the perimeters of the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

★★★

The Carmel City Council amends the specific plan for the planned Senior Citizen Housing complex on Dolores Street and Fifth Avenue to increase the density on the site to 53 units per acre. The increase in density allows 24 units on the site rather than the original 15.

★★★

The Carmel City Council receives $500,000 from the Harrison Memorial Library Board of Trustees for the renovation of the Crocker Bank building into a library annex.

★★★

Three municipal projects increase Carmel's mid-term budget by 17.5 percent or $1,033,423. The projects are the Carmel Beach Restoration Project Phase II, an underground parking garage beneath the proposed senior citizen housing project and the Harrison Memorial Library annex.

★★★

Carmel compiles a report on the city's fire preparedness hoping to avert a disaster similar to the Pebble Beach fire.

★★★

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board votes to put an "advisory vote" on the Nov. 3 asking if district residents want them to continue pursuing a dam on the Carmel River as a water supply project.

★★★

The National Bank of Carmel civil lawsuit settles and $1.2 million will be divided among the shareholders who qualify for a partial refund.

★★★

The Monterey Board of Supervisors ban any dumping of agricultural wastewater from the San Joaquin Valley into local waters.

JULY

The Carmel City Council votes unanimously to divert $1,500 from grant money scheduled to be given to Planned Parenthood, giving the money instead to the Monterey County Suicide Prevention Center.

★★★

Carmel City Council decides to push back a requested advisory vote on proposed renovations to the Sunset Theater, opting instead to schedule the vote with the city's upcoming general election in April. The changes to the theater would expand seating capacity from its present 700 seats to 1,200 to 1,500 seats, at no expense to the city.

★★★

Carmel City Council votes unanimously to not change tour bus routes in the city.

★★★

General Plan review procedures draw criticism from the public because of the current practice of letting comment be continuous between the General Plan Review Committee and the Carmel Planning Commission.

AUGUST

Highlands Fire District begins conducting property inspections as a result of the Morse Fire in Pebble Beach. The purpose of the program is to educate residents about what they can do prior to or in the event of a fire to help save their homes.

★★★

Monterey County Board of Supervisors unanimously accepts the county land use and planning procedures report, co-authored by Tom Kenan.

★★★

Monterey County Planning Commission narrowly approves special land use permit for Pope John Paul II's mass at Laguna Seca.

★★★

Carmel City Council approves a special ordinance allowing Spencers Stationary to relocate to a residential-commercial (RC) zone. The ordinance also contains provisions that permit the suspension of certain zoning and parking requirements when appropriate.

★★★

Monterey Peninsula Water District releases its more than 200 page EIR on the San Clemente Dam. An advisory vote on the project was scheduled for the Nov. 3 ballot. The report is accompanied by an almost equivalent amount of pages of technical memorandums.

DOLLARS & SENSE

By Anthony Piazza & Marshall Bloom

Perspective for a new year

LAST WEEK one of our clients invited us to a round of golf at his club. The day was crisp and clear, the wind mild and the sky a translucent cloudless blue.

Our client — we'll call him Harry — was a traditional host on the course. He mentioned the best targets off the tees. He stressed the difference in difficulty between one par four and another.

For those of you on the peninsula who do not practice the royal and ancient game here in the Mecca of golfdom, you should know that golf has developed the most civilized rituals of any sport you might name. Describing the landscape or peculiar challenges is one of the essential courtesies most golfers extend voluntarily. Even if a small wager is involved, the experienced troopers point out the hazards to the rookies. Where one should hit. Which club to use. You get the point.

Investing is a lot like golf. Someone has played the course before us. And some of the experienced players are better than others. Some are pros and some are duffers FOREVER, who have no business telling you how you should play your investment game.

You wouldn't expect to play a good round of golf by reading a bunch of magazines. Or watching TV programs repeatedly dispensing advice. Folks, let's face it, those people are selling advertising space. Now, selling advertising may be a notable practice of our economy, but it doesn't necessarily have anything to do with successful golf. Or, successful investing.

The way to learn investing is the same as the way to learn golf; do it. If you're afraid to flub, then better not try. Constant setbacks are an essential part of the process.

The second way to learn is to play the whole course. A down market is not the market. Nor is an up market. The market has gone through years as traumatic as 1987. And every trauma is not 1929 followed by a depression. A recent article in the Wall Street Journal listed eight market downturns in this century that were as bad or worse than the current debacle. Only one of the eight led to a depression.

One bad experience in the market, like one bad hole at golf, should not ruin your total perspective of the game.

Common sense, and the kind of practice that doesn't bankrupt you, are the only ways to become a pro. Or at least a talented amateur.

Investors should adopt an attitude from golfers: you're not playing against the other guy, nor are you ultimately playing against the course; you are, always, playing against yourself.

The way to keep from beating yourself is to relax and take the long-term perspective.

And the long-term perspective on the market is that good stocks have appreciated at a rate of better than 9 percent per year since the turn of the century.

Happy New Year.

(Messrs. Piazza and Bloom, associate vice presidents at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc., can be contacted at 373-1861 or P.O. Box 631, Monterey 93940.)

News notes:

Applicants sought for vacany on social service agency

APPLICANTS ARE being sought for a vacancy on Monterey County's Social Services Commission by 4th District Supervisor Sam Karas.

The commission advises the board of supervisors on the administration of the Social Services Department, on programs of federal, state and county welfare and on the needs of the citizens. Further, the commision serves as the state-mandated advisory group required for such areas as child protection and food stamps.

The Social Services Commission meets on the third Tuesday of every month from 5 to 6:30 p.m., usually in Salinas, but occasionally in other offices throughout the County of Monterey.

Fourth District residents who wish to be considered for a four-year appointment to this commission are urged to contact Karas' office by telephone (649-4141), or write to the supervisor at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, CA., 93940.

Meals on Wheels needs volunteers

DRIVERS AND other volunteers are needed to deliver 200 meals daily to shut-ins and the handicapped on the peninsula for Meals on Wheels.

According to Chuck Poland, a Carmel volunteer, 200 homes are served with three meals five days a week from Carmel Valley to Marina, but 22 volunteer drivers are needed daily to deliver those meals.

"We were seven drivers short the other day," said Poland, who has been pressed into service so often that he's driving almost daily now. "It means a lot to these people. You thank your lucky stars when you leave."

Poland said there are 22 routes, three of them in the Carmel area. One route usually takes from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. (including driving to and from the pick-up point in New Monterey).

Each shut-in is delivered a breakfast, one cold meal (usually sandwich, salad and juice), and one hot meal. He added that volunteers are also needed to make sandwiches and salads at the Meals On Wheels kitchen in New Monterey.

Almost all of the help is from volunteers, Poland said, so often the agency ends up shorthanded. If you would like to volunteer to help out, contact Meals on Wheels at 375-4454.

Meals on Wheels is a non-profit organization now in its 15th year.

MERCHANTS REPORT BIG LOCAL HOLIDAY TRADE

The merchants of Carmel are enthusiastic about their Christmas business. Never before have so many visitors been in Carmel. This was probably due largely to the fact that the weather was ideal and that Carmel is rapidly becoming known as a winter resort.

Postmistress Stella J. Vincent claims that she and her six assistants handled by far the largest amount of mail in the history of the town and that they would have been utterly swamped had they not had the advantages of the new building. As it was, the majority of the force had worked all of Sunday and Monday.

53 ISSUES OF PINE CONE THIS YEAR

This is the 53rd number of The Pine Cone for the year 1937. On account of the year beginning and ending on a Friday, this extra paper is a sort of bonus for the subscribers, and an extra week's work for the staff. We get gypped that way one year out of every six; a kind of leap year which affects only Friday publications. By right we should just have taken the week off and spent it in feasting and song. But habits are hard to break. We are all used to turning up here on Monday morning and starting to work, so we did it this week just as usual, although to our way of thinking there is nothing quite so futile as working the week between Christmas and New Year's.

Just by way of a reminder; beginning next week, the subscription price of the Pine Cone advances to $2.50 a year, and after this week the paper will sell on the streets and newsstands for a thin dime, the tenth part of a dollar. We are not going to spend the extra money on riotous living. We need it to pay for paper and other expenses which have increased.

CARMEL ALMOST LOSES AMBULANCE SERVICE

How close Carmel may have come to witnessing the abrupt termination of its twenty-five years of Red Cross ambulance service apparently depends upon what version of a recently quieted dispute is the nearest to the truth. For it is a fact that new regulations published by the California Highway Patrol, scheduled into effect in January 1, and due to be enforced on February 1, brought some volunteer members of the Fire Department to their feet in angry resentment at what they termed "discrimination," and prompted what seemed for a while a firm refusal to continue to man the Red Cross equipment if the regulations were determined to be applicable to the skilled and experienced members of the volunteer corps.

HAPPY ENDING TO TRUCK WRECK

The driver of a Red Cross bloodmobile, en route from San Jose to a blood drive at the Carmel Holiday Inn, took a wrong turn Friday, lost his brakes and crashed 90 feet down Ocean Avenue into a brick wall.

Both the driver, Tom Coz, 20, of San Jose, and a passenger, nurse Hazel Fowle, also from San Jose, escaped injury. The truck suffered "moderate damage," a spokesman for the California Highway Patrol said.

Officials of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Red Cross chapter delayed their pre-Christmas blood drive for 90 minutes while a second truck was dispatched from Central California Red Cross headquarters in San Jose. The trucks haul medical devices used at blood drives and the personnel in San Jose feared they might have been harmed in the crash, said Jean D. Snow, speaking for the local chapter.

Despite the accident and delay, the drive netted 103 pints of blood.

HIGH TIDE EXPECTED TODAY: RIVER FLOODS THREAT INCREASES

Residents along the banks of the Carmel River were saved from potentially serious floods Dec. 22 when heavy rains stopped falling just as river waters rose to a dangerous level.

"The rain stopped just in time," said Robert Binder, acting director of the Monterey County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

But residents within the Carmel River floodplain will not heave a sigh of relief until after this week, when the highest tides in recent Carmel Bay history will pound Carmel Beach.

So you think you want a pet? When a dog or cat is fully grown, it is still totally dependent upon you for all its needs. You must provide it with food and water, change its litter box or walk it regularly and make sure it gets sufficient exercise. You are responsible for watching over its health, keeping it clean and taking it to the vet if it shows symptoms of illness. It is a living creature with a constant need for affection and reassurance. Any animal needs daily human contact and attention. If you can fulfill all of these needs and meet the responsibilities, then perhaps one of the animals featured here or another animal at The MCSPCA is the one for you.

Glitz, glow and glamour

THE SAVANTS of society continued a return to elegance and the sybaritic lifestyle at a dizzy accelerated pace in 1987 in order to satisfy the rapacious social appetite. Larger agendas were planned by the social denizens doing the needful. In the positive pursuits of frenzied fund raising all events were produced with glitz, glow and glamour.

Believing as G.B. Shaw did that "The lack of money is the root of all evil," they felt the need to dazzle to give purpose and substance as they orchestrated dramatic people events. Convinced that Schiller was right when he said, "Man is wholly himself only when he plays," they created pasttimes sure to lure and proved again and again the power of play.

This past year many people gave time, talent, knowledge and many francs and sous to aid others in a merry-go-round of auctions, anniversaries, lunches, receptions, dinners and balls. Megabashes assured success in the social souffle and lavish entertaining reached a new level of accomplishment sometimes returning to touches of times past.

I found a commingling of new and deja vu in my efforts to cover the party circuit with perspecuity. Pandiculation was constant.

The year began with two famous actors meeting at Tor House Panegyric — Dame Judith Andersen and Carmel Mayor Clint Eastwood...Tony Randall bombed at the Community Hospital Foundation and Auxiliary Luncheon. (George Plimpton is due for the next one)...John Romano was voted Chef of The Year and Kate Dietterle took over the helm of the musuem board...The second March of Dimes Gourmet Gala was a smashing success, but just you wait 'til you see the list of celebrities for the Jan. 16 (1988) cook-out.

When it's GG time, can the AT&T be far behind? AT&T contestants puttered away right up until the first Monterey Film Festival brought out klieg lights and movie stars. What a success! With stars: Cliff Robertson, Burgess Meredith, Ed Asner, Katherine Helmond, John Phillips, Doris Day and Clint Eastwood...The Wharf Theatre became the New Wharf Theatre under the Frohman Academy banner in February.

With water, water everywhere, but the only thing to drink was wine when the guests of the Monterey Wine Festival filled all but the tanks of the aquarium. They have grander plans and a later date set for this coming year.

Robert Louis Stevenson Sponsors Club "Put On The Ritz" in March and plan the first really big social event at the Inn at Spanish Bay Jan. 23. We "put on the ritz" by going to Oscar night in Hollywood and had fun mingling with the glamorous in a different setting. Then we returned for our own glamorous Ad Club "Sammy Awards Night" with such winners as Hyatt's "Make my stay" ad. How original!

Pashas and belly-dancers invaded the M.P. Country Club when the Service League of Sa nta Catalina turned the club into a Turkish place of pleasure...Highlands Inn created a "garden of eating" with masters of food and wine from Europea and the USA.

The Pacific Grove Monarch fluttered forth at a party at La Maison Grenouille and has been flying high ever since. "Baubles Bangles & Bids in May helped to build the beautiful new temple that opened in December...The Monterey Concours motored into the Monterey Fairgrounds for the second year and established the event as a rival for the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance...Guide Dogs For the Blind Chapter gave a 90th birthday celebration for Gen. Jimmy Doolittle of Carmel Valley.

Local bachelors went on the auction block to the delight of hundreds of screaming bachelorettes who admired "the hunks" as they paraded on the runway before the ladies put up their money with bids going up to $10,500 for a date. The idea of doing the same with bachelorettes on the auction block didn't work out.

In the summer, PG's Lighthouse Cinemas light up Lighthouse Avenue and in the fall a co-ed dorm opened at RLS. A super show of Fabulous Fifties Frocks by the History and Art Association went on exhibit in the Del Monte Mall. Tablescapes has become a perennial.

Late in the year, celebrity tennis returned to the area. Not back to Pebble Beach as Clint Eastwood had done in the past but to the Carmel Valley Ranch Resort. And, the American Heart Association gave heart-warming awards to many who had offered assistance in looking after all our hearts.

THE YORK SCHOOL

ADMISSION TESTING FOR FALL, 1988

January 9th, January 23

The York School is an independent, coeducational, college preparatory day school enrolling 162 students in grades 8 through 12.

York offers a rigorous academic curriculum, a strong and competitive sports program, opportunities for individual and group participation in the arts, and a variety of extra-curricular activities and clubs. The approximate student-faculty ratio is 9-1 and the average class size is 15; York is small enough to allow each student full participation in the school community. York encourages the development of personal and intellectual skills along with an appreciation for lifelong learning and growth. There is respect for individual differences, cultural and intellectual diversity and tolerance for others in an environment encouraging academic excellence.

We welcome those who are academically qualified without regard to race, creed, national or ethnic origin or economic background.

On Sunset Theater renovation

Group will ask council to drop advisory vote

By DAVID LELAND

THE CARMEL City Council next week will hear a request from the Friends of the Performing Arts to halt an advisory vote scheduled for next April concerning a proposed performing arts theater at Sunset Center.

It has been tacitly understood during the past several months that the ad hoc group, responding to residental fears of increased traffic and congestion, and a Carmel Planning Commission decision which found that a 1,200-seat theater would not fit with Carmel's community character, was abandoning hope for the project in downtown Carmel.

"After considerable thought and discussion, it is our opinion that an advisory vote should be delayed as there are too many unresolved factors which need to be decided before voters can make a clear decision," wrote Bob Coffin, chairman of the organization.

Coffin cited size, design and financing of a proposed garage to be located at the north end of Sunset Center as potential conflicts.

The city council will hear the Friends' request at its meeting 4 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 5 in the Carmel Women's Club, located at Eighth Avenue and San Carlos Street.

In August of 1986, the city council pitched in $10,000 toward a $25,000 feasibility study, which found that the majority of residents and theater users on the peninsula favored the project.

After the results were released, however, many Carmelites complained that they were not polled and were not in favor of any expansion in the quiet neighborhood where Sunset Center is located.

It is still unclear which project the Friends will support, but Carmel Valley philanthropist Virginia Stanton has pledged $250,000 for the cause.

Some of the proposed performing arts theater groups attempting to woo the Friends include: a project slated for Carmel Valley in conjunction with the Carmel Unified School District; a theater proposed for Monterey and a regional theater which would include participation by all peninsula cities.

•

OTHER MATTERS scheduled to come before the city council at its next meeting include:

• An appeal of a planning commission decision which grants David Maradei and Judith Wolfe a height variance at property located at Casanova Street and Second Avenue.

Appellant Fergus Tobin, a neighbor of the property, claims that there are other alternatives to a height increase that have not been explored.

Tobin also contends that a new blueprint for the project was presented at the beginning of the planning commission meeting in which it was approved. That, he claims, gave insufficient time for the public to study the new material.

• Will establish a date to hold a special council meeting where a public hearing can be conducted on the proposed revisions to the city's general plan.

• Will discuss a format for adopting the city's biennial budget and establish dates for that process.

• If one of the numerous bids for the $750,000 Carmel Beach Phase II comes in within budget, the council may award a contract for the project.

• Will consider a resoultion establishing a 90-day trial period for additional delivery truck parking on the east side of San Carlos Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues.

County seeking applicants for economic commission

FIFTH DISTRICT Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman is seeking qualified applicants who wish to serve on Monterey County's Overall Economic Development Program Commission (OEDPC).

Appointees must represent one of the following community areas: industry/utilities; real estate/finance; local government or minority groups.

The commission meets the third Thursday of each month, at 7 p.m. in the chamber of commerce in Salinas. The OEDPC is the principal coordinator of various local activities designed to stimulate new private and public investment. It works to provide permanent employment and growth opportunities in Monterey County.

Fifth District residents who wish to be considered for a three-year appointment to this commission are urged to contact Strasser Kauffman's office by telephone (649-6515) or write to the supervisor at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, California 93940.

MPC spring schedules available

Monterey Peninsula College announces the arrival of the schedule of classes for the spring semester. They are available on campus at the book store, Student Services Office and Information Center.

Mail-in registrations must be postmarked by Jan. 8. Walk-in registrations begin Jan. 23, and spring semester classes begin Feb. 1. For more information, call 646-4000.

Film focuses on 'Civilisation'

The Monterey Public Library Filmshows series will present "Part Two — The Great Thaw," from Kenneth Clark's Civilisation series. Produced by the BBC, the film surveys the emergency of medieval Europe in the 12th century. The production will be screened Thursday, Jan. 7 at the library.

Also to be shown is a 21-film on Castles in Switzerland.

Both films will be shown as part of the free weekly series presented Thursdays at the library, located at 625 Pacific St. in Monterey.

Art competitive accepts entries

Richard Koshalek, director of the Museum of Contemporary Art in Los Angeles, will be this year's sole juror for "Exemplary Contempor'y," the annual all-media competition for artists living and working in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties.

The prospectus is now available at the Eloise Pickard Smith Gallery at Cowell College, University of California at Santa Cruz.

In addition to giving cash awards, he will also select an artist to be honored with a solo show at the gallery.

Entry will be by slide. Slide-taking information is also available at the gallery. Entry deadline is Jan. 22. For further information, write Verna Brady, director, Eloise Pickard Smith Gallery, Cowell College, UC Santa Cruz, CA 95064, or call 429-2953.

Bookmobile closes for repairs

The Bookmobile of the Monterey County Library will be closed for repairs through Jan. 2. Materials borrowed from the Bookmobile may be returned at any other library in Monterey County.

For more information, call the county library administrative offices at 424-3244.

Alexander Technique workshop set

The Staff Players Repertory Company invites performers in Monterey County to join them for another Alexander Technique workshop. Frank Ottiwell, Alexander instructor at the American Conservatory Theatre, will conduct a workshop for 15 actors, dancers or musicians.

It will be offered Sunday, Jan. 17 at the Indoor Forest Theatre, Santa Rita and Mountain View, Carmel. The workshop will run from 1 to 6 p.m.

Enrollment will be on a first-come, first-serve basis and there will be a $20 fee.

The Alexander Technique is one of the major tools used at theater schools and conservatories in America and Europe. Its value in the training of actors lies in heightened awareness and improved self-use.

To register, call the theater at 624-1531. For further information, contact the artistic director of the Staff Players, Marcia Hovick.

Briarcliff lands donated to RLS

THE PROPERTY occupied by Carmel's Briarcliff Academy has been donated to the Robert Louis Stevenson School by Alan and Rita Shugart, according to RLS Headmaster Joe Wandke.

Briarcliff, an independent school co-founded six years ago by Rita Shugart, will retain its identify as a separate school, with its own board of directors. The change will not affect parents, students, faculty, or the staff of the school, Wandke said.

The Stevenson School has agreed to provide management services to Briarcliff, and will continue to lease the site to the school.

Efrem Zimbalist III, the chairman of the RLS board of trustees, said that "this arrangement is an opportunity for Stevenson to share one of its strengths with another fine independent school. Briarcliff is providing quality education to our community; what we really have now is an opportunity to better serve the community."

According to Rita Shugart, "The Briarcliff site has been given to the Stevenson School so that Briarcliff might benefit from the management team that Stevenson has assembled."

"I am very excited about this change," Briarcliff Principal Marilyn Tully said, "and I am looking forward to working with the administrative staff at RLS."

Briarcliff, with an enrollment of 163 in pre-kindergarten through eighth-grade, was founded by the Shugarts in 1982. Located on Dolores street in Carmel, it occupies the former site of the Carmel Woods School.

RITA SHUGART recently donated the land occupied by Carmel's Briarcliff Academy, which she co-founded, to the Robert Louis Stevenson School. Accepting the donation was RLS Headmaster Joseph Wandke.

SPCA needs newspapers

The Monterey County SPCA is in need of discarded magazines and newspapers for use by the animals in the shelter. "We use the paper to line the cages of the kittens and cats, and we go through a lot of paper daily."

Individuals can deliver their newspaper to the MCSPCA Animal Shelter, 1002 Highway 68 across from the entrance to Laguna Seca Recreation Area.

Baby, child health clinics scheduled

The Monterey County Health Department has announced Well-Baby and Child Health Clinics for the month of January.

Appointments are required, and can be made by calling 899-4271. Clinic fees are set by sliding scale, based on ability to pay. The minimum fee is $20.

Clinics will be offered in the Seaside office, 1292 Olympia Ave., on Mondays, Jan. 11 and 25. Specially trained public health nurses will examine and test the child, provide immunizations and counsel about correct feeding and nutrition, growth and development, and dealing with the child's behavior patterns. The clinic also provides school physicals.

MPC awarded grant for graphic arts

For the third year in a row, the Monterey Peninsula College Graphic Arts Department has been awarded a $5,000 grant from the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula (SCRAMP). The award, given for program cover design, will allow the graphics department to purchase Apple computer graphics equipment, a scanner and large computer screen to help design MPC's publications and make the graphics department more "state-of-the-art."

Big Sur Land Trust buys 1,157-acre Philo property

THE BIG Sur Land Trust has successfully purchased a 1,157-acre redwood property formerly known as the Philo Property near the Palo Colorado area of Big Sur.

Concluding negotiations that had started in 1983, the land trust paid $1.2 million to the Federal Land Bank of Sacramento who had repossessed the property from Philo Lumber Co.

Philo had obtained a permit in 1983 to log over 1 million board feet from the property. This threat to environmental resources and the dangerous use of the narrow Palo Colorado Road stirred heated controversy from nearby residents who proceeded to file a lawsuit against Philo and the California Department of Forestry. Monterey County joined this lawsuit and also attempted to get special protection through the state Legislature. Unfortunately, all of these efforts were unsuccessful.

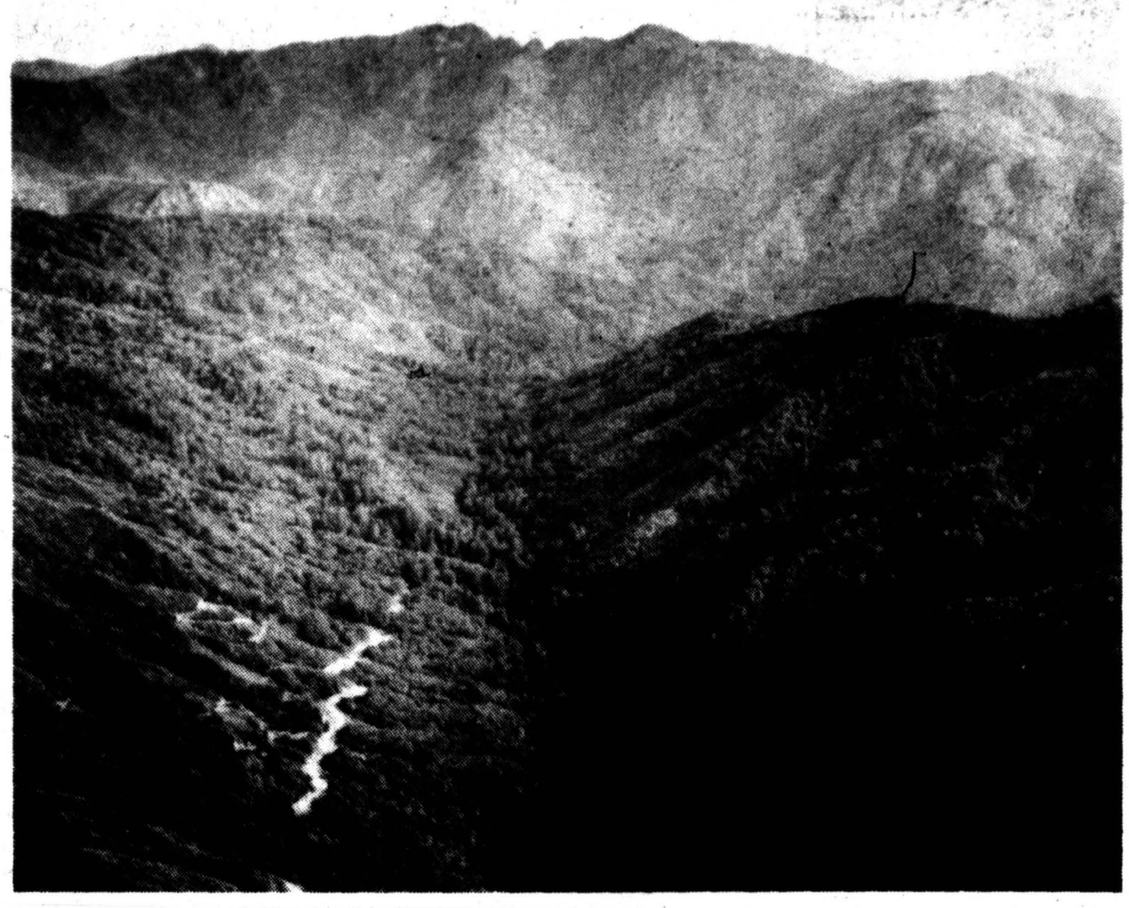
A number of residents approached the land trust asking if the property could be purchased to save it from logging. Based upon overwhelming public concern, the land trust immediately began fund raising and started negotiations with the Federal Land Bank. The original price of $3.2 million was prohibitive, and little progress was made until this September when the land trust's offer of $1.2 million was accepted. With that acceptance in hand, the land trust secured a loan from the David and Lucile Packard Foundation to buy the property. Escrow closed on Dec. 15.

While the land trust was negotiating with the Federal Land Bank, it sought to persuade the Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District to ultimately acquire the property and manage it for limited public use appropriate to the area.

Zad Leavy, a longtime park district director, who represents the area in which the property is located, said "I have been concerned about this key parcel since 1983, and I am delighted that the land trust has secured it for open space protection. I look forward to the park district working with The Big Sur Land Trust to permanently preserve this future parkland in the public interest."

According to Gary Tate, park district general manager, "We hope to develop a management plan for a day use facility prior to the transfer from the land trust. We are currently looking at issues like access, parking, trails, fire protection, supervision and maintenance."

At the time the land trust's offer as accepted, the property was being considered for purchase by interested timber companies, However, this acquisiton will permanently end the logging of the property. Old roads on the property will be turned into hiking trails that will lead to the upper and lower reaches of the property which range from 2,400 feet to 1,000 feet above sea level. Turner Creek and Mill Creek converge at the center of the property to form the headwaters of Bixby Creek, which flows to the ocean.



THE BIG Sur Land Trust recently acquired a 1,157-acre parcel near the Palo Colorado area of Big Sur for $1.2 million. The property was formerly known as the Philo property. (Bill Webb photo.)

"These water and forest resources make the area desirable as habitat for wildlife," said Glenn Stewart of the Ventana Wilderness Sanctuary. "We look forward to working with land trust and the park district to use the property for rehabilitation and release of bald eagles and other wildlife native to the Santa Lucia Mountains."

The purchase of the Philo property brings the total of lands preserved by the land trust to 6,984 acres since its incorporation 10 years ago in 1978. Working in Carmel Valley and Monterey as well as Big Sur, the land trust depends upon membership contributions and donations from the public to continue its conservation work.

PACIFIC WESTERN BANK APPOINTS SULLIVAN TO MONTEREY POSITION

Pacific Western Bank, with three offices on the Monterey Peninsula, announced the appointment, this week, of LuAnn Sullivan of Carmel as its vice president for business development in the Monterey/Carmel area.

Sullivan, who joined the bank from a position as manager of the Capitola office of Wells Fargo, has been in banking for 15 years. During her career, she spent two years on the peninsula as assistant manager of that bank's Monterey office.

A native of Milwaukee, Sullivan attended Soquel High School, Cabrillo College and San Jose State before beginning her banking career. Named the 1987 Woman of the Year by the Capitola Chamber of Commerce, she also served as its president this year. Currently a member of Mid-(Santa Cruz) County Rotary, Sullivan has been member of the finance committee for Dominican Hospital and an account executive for United Way of Santa Cruz County for the last three years.

In her new position, Sullivan will work out of the bank's Carmel office on Dolores between Seventh and Eighth Streets. Her main responsibilities, however, will be as a personal and business banker calling on clients throughout the Monterey Peninsula for Pacific Western Bank, the state's 11th largest domestically owned bank with 26 offices from Carmel to Los Altos.

The new bank vice president and her son, Brent, age 9, now live in Carmel.

CV'S STILLMAN ELECTED PRESIDING JUDGE

Carmel Valley's Judge Stephen A. Sillman of the Monterey County Municipal Court was elected Presiding Judge for 1988 at a meeting of the Municipal Court's judges Nov. 5 and will take office Jan. 1, 1988.

Sillman earned his law degree from the University of the Pacific in 1973 and began his legal career in the Sacramento County District Attorney's Office. In 1977, he came to Monterey County and served as a prosecutor for the District Attorney's Office until his appointment to the Municipal Court bench in 1982. Sillman was re-elected to office in 1986.

The judge has served as an instructor at the Monterey College of Law and as a faculty lecturer at the Center for Judicial Education and Research for their New Judges College. Sillman is presently on the board of directors of: Special Olympics, Sun Street Center Alcohol Rehabilitation Center, the Child Abuse Prevention Council of Monterey County and Leadership Monterey. He is a past member of the board of directors of: the Rape Crisis Center, the Economic Development Council of Monterey County, the Arthritis Foundation, United Way - Salinas, Multiple Sclerosis Society and a member of the Mayor's Task Force on Driving Under the Influence.

Sillman and his wife, Veronica, live in Carmel Valley and are the parents of three daughters.

RIDESHARING PROGRAM HAS RECORD YEAR IN MONTEREY COUNTY

The ridesharing program of the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments (AMBAG) had a record year in Monterey County between 1986 and 1987, according to Mike Johnson, ridesharing coordinator.

"Between July 1986 and June 1987, we helped people save over half a million dollars in commute costs," said Johnson.

AMBAG's Monterey Ridesharing service has been in existence since 1979. The purpose of the county-wide program is to promote alternative transportation modes like carpools, vanpools, and public transit.

According to AMBAG studies, 11 percent of commuting employees carpool while 75 percent drive alone.

"Ridesharing benefits the region by reducing traffic congestion, air pollution, and fuel consumption. Few people realize that burning a gallon of gas creates about a pound of air pollution," Johnson explained.

During the last fiscal year, Monterey Ridesharing set records for the number of employers contacted and the number of carpool applications distributed. Several employers in the region have initiated carpool programs like Fort Ord, Defense Language Institute, the Pebble Beach Co., and the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District.

"Most people share a ride for economic reasons. The average carpooler saves hundreds of dollars a year," Johnson said. In a survey of 1,500 employees, AMBAG found that the average commuter lives 8 miles from work. Over a year, each person drives 4,000 miles, uses 204 gallons of fuel, creates 193 pounds of air pollution, and spends over $1,900 to own and operate a car.

For more information, contact Mike Johnson, AMBAG's Ridesharing Coordinator at 373-6116.

MONTEREY CHAMBER ELECTS NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Faye Messinger, John Brennan and Charles Chrietzberg of Carmel are among the new faces elected to serve as 1988 board members for the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce during the recent October board meeting.

Incumbent directors also elected to serve additional terms are Toni Doyle of Resort 2 Me, Dottie Surdi of Surdi's Restaurant, Chuck Della Sala, Jr. of Pacific Street Real Estate, and Peter Blackstock of Victory Toyota. Other directors remaining to serve include Bert Cutino of the Sardine Factory, Sherrie McCullough of Discover Card, Bob Bussinger of Ventena Inn, Jim Jenifer of Community Hospital of Monterey Peninsula, Tom Hendricks of the Monterey Culinary Insurance and Pension Funds, Paul Ratchford of the Inn at Spanish Bay, and Elaine Vieira of Bank of America.

Messinger, a retired businesswoman, is presently chairperson of the chamber's Small Business Committee. She has served on several committees for the city of Monterey and as president of the New Monterey Business Association and the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of Professional Secretaries International. Messinger is also a member of Soroptomist International of the Monterey Peninsula.

Brennan, a formal Naval officer, is the owner of Brennan Associates, a local real estate consulting firm. A chamber member since 1985, Brennan served on various projects before becoming chairperson of the Economic Development Committee in 1987. As chairperson, Brennan led the committee in a variety of efforts including initiating the "Buy Peninsula First" campaign, establishing a business technology inventory, increasing the Score caseload, creating the Magnet concept, and collaborating on the chamber's trade fair programs.

He is also a member of the Visit Monterey County Day planning committee and serves on Assemblyman Sam Farr's Monrerey Bay Task Force Economic Development Unit. Brennan is currently a member of the planning committee for the first Regional Business Outlook Conference to be held in February.

Charles Chrietzberg, Jr., a local private investor, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Monterey County Bank. He has served as chief executive officer of the Sam Houston Mortagage Co. and Union of Texas Bancshares, Inc., both of Houston, Texas. Chrietzberg is the owner of La Reina Chardonnay Winnery which sponsored the Monterey Film Festival last year and co-sponsored the recent California Challenge Polo Match.

Chrietzberg is affiliated with several organizations including the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Knights of the Vine. He serves on the board of directors for the Monterey Film Festival and is a member of the Chamber's Economic Development Committee.

Elections for the 1988 officers of the Monterey Peninsual Chamber of Commerce are set for November.

HERNANDEZ NAMED TO MUSEUM ASSOCIATION POST

Jo Farb Hernandez, director of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, was elected vice president of the California Association of Museums at the associations's annual election meeting this month.

A statewide organization, the California Association of Museums represents museums of all sizes and disciplines within the state. It carries out a variety of programs, including acting as a legislative liaison, monitoring activity in the state and federal governments and keeping the museum community informed on issues which affect them.

Hernandez was director of Triton Museum in Santa Clara for seven years before becoming director of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art in December 1985. She holds a master's degree in folklore and mythology with concentration in folk art and brings to her position a broad range of professional research, community service and experience. A published writer, she also has received awards and distinctions, among them the Rockefeller Fellowship while connected with the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts in 1976-77 and she is also listed in American Women of Achievement, Who's Who in American Art and Who's Who in the West as well as in Who's Who of California Executive Women.

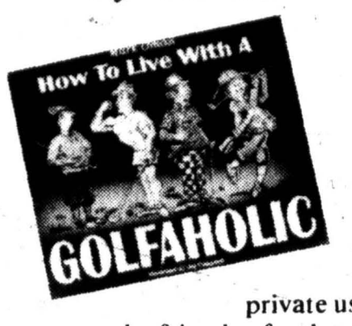
HOW TO LIVE WITH A GOLFAHOLIC

By Carmel Author Mark Oman



WARNING!

The following excerpt from the new book HOW TO LIVE WITH A GOLFAHOLIC is intended solely for the private use of those who suspect they may be friends of, related to, or — heaven forbid — married to a golfaholic. In the weeks ahead you'll learn the whole sordid story; how to survive the "traps and hazards" of life with a golf lover.

How to talk to your golfaholic

YES, I know you have tried. The problem is your words of wisdom about his ball-beating obsession don't connect for him. You have to carefully select words and images he can easily understand in his condition.

You have to sprinkle the conversation with words and phrases that are going to keep his mind from wandering, hold his attention, keep him from getting restless.

You will get much farther if you can speak the same language as your golfaholic; communicate on his level of awareness.

Learn to use words and phrases like...

- Down the middle
- On the sweet spot
- Long knocker
- Big stick
- Scratch player
- Stiff
- Hole high

These are good works, positive phrases, completely non-threatening. Used liberally in any conversation they are sure to bring a smile to your golfaholic's face.

The fact that such words might also have another connotation only make them easier for him to understand.

NAUGHTY WORDS

There are also some nasty phrases and naughty words that you should never use under any circumstances.

Words like...

- Slice
- Hook
- Fat
- Chili dip
- Double bogey
- Rough
- Shank
- Sudden death

For example, tell a golf lover to "take a whiff" of your homemade soup and he's going to hate it.

But tell him the soup is sure to "his his sweet spot" and he'll lap it up like your schnauzer.

A word to the wise. Under no circumstances serve "chili dip" at a party. He'll "double bogey" it for sure and head for the port-a-potty.

And never, ever offer him a "slice" of lamb "shank." It's bound to be too "fat" or just plain "rough." If he isn't thinking and does take a bite, he's sure to "choke" on it, maybe even ruin the whole dinner party with "sudden death."

Before you let matters get that far, it's time to take "a grassroots" perspective. Simply, which would you rather have?

Your golfaholic on the course looking down at the grass, or six feet under looking up at the roots?

Don't be so quick to answer!

You may change your mind before we're through here.

Then again...

YOU'LL GET MUCH FARTHER IF YOU CAN SPEAK THE SAME LANGUAGE AS YOUR GOLFAHOLIC

OBITUARIES

Earl L. Vesterby

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Earl Lloyd Vesterby of Pebble Beach, who died Nov. 28 at the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 80.

Born Feb. 21, 1907 in Catawba, Wis., he retired in 1972 after 30 years with Northwest Radio in Duluth, Minn., where he was vice president. He lived in Superior, Wis., before moving to Pebble Beach in 1973.

He was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Men's Garden Club.

Survivors include his wife, Beatrice; a daughter, Elizabeth Vesterby of Seattle; three sons, Roger of Pebble Beach, Thomas of Tigard, Ore., and Paul of Glen Falls, N.Y.; two sisters, Wilma Angeli of San Lorenzo and Carol Thompson of Newark, and eight grandchildren.

No services took place, at his request. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

A memorial service will take place later.

The family suggests contributions to the intensive care unit at Community Hospital.

Milton Gold

Private cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Milton Gold of Pebble Beach, who died Nov. 25 at the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 81.

Born Jan. 15, 1906 in Manhattan, N.Y., he moved to Pebble Beach from West Los Angeles 11 years ago. He worked as a cameraman for major motion picture studios and television for 50 years, retiring in 1968. His first contact with the Monterey area was working on the film Intermezzo in the late 1930s.

He was a member and one of the founders of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees Union, Local 659, in Los Angeles.

Survivors include his wife, Bernice; a son, Richard of San Bernardino; and two sisters, Regina Rosenberg of Newport Beach and Estell Greene of Scotsdale, Ariz.

Ashes were scattered at sea off Los Angeles. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, or a charity of the donor's choice.

Lewis Kent Hunter

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements, for Lewis Kent Hunter of Carmel, who died Dec. 6 at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 84.

Born Dec. 2, 1903 in Yonkers, N.Y., he was a Navy veteran of World War I. He owned Viking Sails, a gift shop in Carmel.

He was a member of Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula and the Carmel Foundation.

Survivors include his wife, Katerina; two sons, Lewis Jr. of Aromas and David of Fairfax, and four grandchildren.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the donor's favorite charity.

At his request, no services were planned.

Frank Walton Scott

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Frank Walton Scott of Carmel and Pacific Grove, who died Dec. 1 at Driftwood Convalescent Hospital. He was 84.

Born March 25, 1903 in Greenfield, Ind., he received a bachelor's degree from Purdue University and a doctoral degree in metallurgy from the University of Minnesota.

After 27 years as general manager and metallurgist with Marquette Corp. in Minneapolis, he retired in 1968. He moved to Carmel in 1971 and to Pacific Grove last year.

Survivors include a daughter, Donna Allison of Menlo Park; three sons, John of Edina, Minn., Frank Jr. of Ridgecrest and Michael of Hermosa Beach; a brother, John of Indianapolis; 10 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

His wife, Donna, died in 1984.

At his request, no services took place. Ashes were to be scattered at sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to Alzheimer's Research at Project SHARE, 1295 La Salle St., Seaside 93955.

Maxine C. Jensen

Memorial services took place Dec. 6 at the Daneri Mortuary Chapel in Jackson, for Maxine C. Jensen, who died Dec. 4 in Amador Hospital in Jackson. She was 66.

Born May 31, 1921 in Pocatello, Idaho, she was a former library assistant at Monterey Peninsula College for 15 years. She moved from Carmel to Jackson in 1979 where she opened The Broadway Hotel, a bed-and-breakfast inn.

She was a member of the Monterey Bay Aquarium, California State Employees Association, Friends of the Library in Amador County and the Amador County Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include her husband, Neil; two sons, John and Mark, both of Carmel; three daughters, Carol Jensen Root of Carmel Valley, Noel of Shadow Hills and Martha Snyder of Park City, Utah; a sister, Dorothy Craig of Pacific Grove; and five grandchildren.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Amador County Transportation Fund of the American Cancer Society.

There was room at the 'inn'

The new, recently dedicated Congregation Beth Israel on Carmel Valley Road, is having the usual "moving-in" problems of any new home.

Last week, the loose-gravel foundation was oiled in preparation for the asphalt coating. Like the Hanukkah story, the oil was supposed to last a short time, but again, due to the weather, it just lay there on the gravel and lasted eight days!

Friday night services were scheduled for Dec. 25, Christmas Day. Hurried calls were make to congregants who lived nearby to see if their homes could be used, but they were either out of town or otherwise unavailable. There was no place to welcome the Sabbath.

Behold a miracle — one of kindness, understanding and friendship.

Rabbi Jeffrey Ableser called Rev. James Brown of the neighboring Community Church and within a few moments Brown extended a warm invitation to use the church's facilities.

So on Christmas Day, in the evening, the synagague members gathered in the community hall of the church, lit the Sabbath candles, enjoyed the services and felt gratitude and love for their neighbors. (Adeline Kohn.)

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

Pray for peace

Carmel Rotary, La Playa Hotel

A year ago I visited Mexico for the Fiesta de Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe. I stayed on for Christmas and the feast of Los Tres Reyes (Epiphany).

There was an abundance of colored lights, Posadas and Pastorelas with songs and costumes from the 16th and 17th Centuries, but most spectacular, were the "Fuegas artificiales." The fireworks were as spectacular and as dangerous as only Mexicans can make them.

Perhaps our local homes, instead of holly wreaths with Tom Brown's "peace," should have wreaths with the words "dangerous explosives within." For example, "peace" reigns until dad finds out that mother has given his favorite easy chair and worn-out slippers to Goodwill and replaced them with new ones.

The explosion is heard all the way to Chualar. The females of the family have decided that peace on earth to men of good will does not apply to them. The angels did not sing peace to persons so the admonition excludes them. The household is anything but a "silent night."

The list of potential explosives goes on and on with naggers, pouters, and agitators who set off quarrels and sit back to enjoy the bursting rockets that light up the sky. It is not the star of Bethlehem.

Oh, Christ Child of peace in your humble crib grant our homes true and lasting peace and tranquility. Deliver us from all family fireworks. It takes such a small spark to ignite them. Oh Lord, help us to keep your love and kindness aglow in our homes these holidays and throughout 1988. Only you can supply us with this kind of fire insurance at the right premium Amen.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

"There is legitimate cause for concern about television's image of growing old and being old," say authors Richard and James Davis in their book "TV's Image of The Elderly." The authors charge that older characters are often pictured as more foolish, stubborn, comical or eccentric than other characters; that there are fewer senior citizen characters than their percentage of the population in real life; that older women are often stereotyped in roles which have them denying their age and trying desperately to stay young. The authors say children are likely to believe the TV caricatures, which could seriously affect their relationships with the elderly.

The world population of people over the age of 60 was 376 million in 1980. Just 40 years from now, experts predict, that figure will have climbed to more than a billion.

HOW THIS RAKE CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE.

This simple garden tool is a firefighter. It can help you clear away brush and leaves that act like kindling around your home. And you.

So if you live near the forest, do a little raking. And that's not all. Landscape your home with a fire retardant plant like ivy. Use spark arrester screens on your chimney and vents. And put fire retardant material on your roof and underneath your house where it is exposed.

Because a forest fire burns more than trees.

Remember.
Only you can prevent forest fires.

PALO COLORADO Canyon serves as a backdrop for this bald eagle landing on a branch. Artist Robert Signorella creates his eagles out of bronze and brass. They can be viewed at the Coast Galleries. (Photo by Jack Signorella.)

WORKING in his home studio, Signorella welds 3,000 brass feathers onto the armature of each eagle he designs. Hundreds of hours of labor goes into each bald eagle, and no two are alike. (Photo by Anne Papineau.)

Eagles take flight from artist's hilltop studio

By ANNE PAPINEAU

NOT FAR from the Ventana Wilderness Sanctuary where wild eagles make their home, a former builder devotes his days to portraying the American bald eagle in brass and bronze.

Robert Signorella is a refugee from Southern California who restructured his entire life to build his home near the Big Sur Coast and sculpt the majestic birds that nest nearby.

"I won't live long enough to do all the eagle poses I have in mind. Every one is an original. I plan my life's work to be portraying the American bald eagle," explains Signorella.

For several years Signorella juggled this labor of love with his construction business.

"It greyed me prematurely doing construction in the daytime and sculpture in the evenings," he quips.

Signorella began sculpting in 1968, concentrating on abstract forms to learn the rudiments of the craft. Early on he was inspired to depict the bald eagle, and since 1977 has concentrated solely on that subject in his art.

"In the beginning I read as much about the eagle as I possibly could," he says. "For a couple years I had a chain link fence pattern on my face from standing at the eagle exhibits in the San Diego and L.A. zoos."

Like the eagle itself, each of Signorella's sculptures is a one-of-a-kind entity. He begins an eagle by carving in wax its head, talons and the object it may hold in its grasp — a fish, snake or branch perhaps. He employs the ancient lost wax method to produce a bronze casting of these sculptures.

Employing a method and tools of his own design, Signorella welds the skeleton or armature of the eagle out of copper-coated steel rod. Into each eagle armature he welds a brass heart that bears a family inscription.

Signorella then cuts thousands of life-sized eagle feathers out of sheets of brass.

"I had been working on the technique of veining the brass feathers. It took me a couple years just to work that out," he notes.

The feathers take on different metallic hues when the artist details them with a torch. Using the torch, he then brazes each feather to the armature, typically 3,000 feathers per bird.

•

SIGNORELLA'S bald eagles are exhibited at the Coast Galleries in Big Sur, Pebble Beach and Maui, Hawaii. Their six-foot wingspans are representative of what the artist calls "middle aged" eagles, or an adult bird of about 17 years.

"An eagle can live 30 or 35 years in the wild," he explains. "And they've lived up to 50 years in captivity."

Each eagle requires between 300 and 400 hours of labor, he said. With its oak pedestal, the sculpture weighs 150 pounds. The eagles are priced at $12,000 to $15,000.

Signorella said that unlike their living counterparts, his sculptured eagles appear to be imperishable. He designed an eagle several years ago for the garden of Chicago trombonist James Pankow, and there the bird continues to thrive.

"They'll be around a lot longer than me," he adds.

From his studio adjoining his home Signorella can view the canyons that are the eagles' lair.

"It's like living in heaven," he says of Palo Colorado Canyon. "I don't even like to go into town. The surroundings are absolutely perfect."

Like his eagles, the home was a labor-intensive project that Signorella juggled with his construction business.

ARTS & LEISURE

Until last year, Signorella, his wife and two children made their home in the San Fernando Valley in Southern California. They bought the site of their dream home years ago, and determined to build the house themselves.

"We took a two-year beating," he recalls of the project. "My wife and I would get off work on Friday night and we'd drive up here via Highway 101. We'd work the entire weekend on the house. Then we'd go home Sunday night to be back on the job Monday. This 2,500 square foot home was built by one man, one woman and two kids. We spent $10,000 is gasoline and over 40,000 hours driving to build this home. We were really fortunate as far as breakdowns and no accidents during the drive."

That work behind him, Signorella can now focus not on what he has to do, but what he wants to do.

"I will portray the eagle courtship ritual. The male and female fly through the air, lock claws and tumble. That will definitely be a very dramatic piece."

FOR YEARS Signorella was a Southern California builder who was able to sculpt eagles only part time. He left the business to build a home near Big Sur and devote his life to sculpting the American bald eagle. (Photo by Jack Signorella.)

The Olio Revue

A holiday tradition on the Monterey Peninsula is the annual staging of the Olio Revue at California's First Theater.

Olio Revue is an old-time variety show that features songs, dances and melodramatic skits.

It can be viewed at 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through January at the historic theater located on Pacific Street at Scott in Monterey. A special presentation of Olio Revue will be staged on New Year's Eve, Thursday, Dec. 31.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and teens and $4 for children 12 and younger. For information, call 375-4916.

Pelican Players conduct comedy auditions

Marina's oldest community building, the Marina Grange Hall, will be the setting for auditions by the Pelican Players. The newly renovated building located behind Mortimer's on Carmel Avenue will be the site for live plays, the first one being the three-act comedy, Life With Father, by Lindsay and Crouse.

Auditions for the play will take place at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 4-5.

Directors Chuck and Dorothy Scardina will be asking for actors aged 6 to 60. There are 16 people in the play. Also needed are carpenters, props people, electricians, curtain pullers, ticket takers, set painters, costume people and other helpers.

The Pelican Players future productions are scheduled to include I Remember Mama, The 12-Pound Look, The Threepenny Opera, High Grounds and other one-act plays. There will also be a children's theater and school, and contests for local playwrights whose plays will be produced.

The Marina Grange is the oldest community buliding in Marina, having been constructed in the early '30s.

For more information, contact the directors at 384-3001, or write to P.O. Box 943, Marina, CA 93933, care of The Pelican Players.

Pamela Benda to lead art classes in P.G.

Painter and portrait artist Pamela Benda will teach classes at the Pacific Grove Art Center this January.

The 24 sessions of the course begin Jan. 5 and continue 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday for 12 weeks.

Benda, who has exhibited numerous one-woman shows on the peninsula, was trained at the Art Student's League in New York City. The recipient of national awards, her work is represented in more than 400 private and public collections across the United States and Canada.

The artist said her goal in this class series is "providing inspiration and helping the student develop their own style...As I see it, my purpose in teaching is not to create a school of imitators, but to promote the joy of creativity and individuality. Obtaining knowledge and practicing your craft is important, but more important is the 'art spirit,' a sense of wonder, integrity and fun."

Students will have the opportunity to work at painting, drawing, mixed media, collage, monoprints and more.

Since studio space at the Pacific Grove Art Center is limited, early registration is advised. For further information, call 625-6807.

Early registration taken for 10K

The YMCA of the Monterey Peninsula will sponsor Super Race XI, a 10K race set to begin 9 a.m. Jan. 24.

The race begins and ends at the Monterey Youth Center, 777 Pearl St. in Monterey. Cost is $10, ($8 active military) which includes a race T-shirt. Pre-registration ends Jan. 16, after which the cost is $12.

Race day registration begins at 7:30 a.m. and ends at 8:45 a.m. Team entries will be accepted, but must be submitted by Jan. 16.

Preceding the 10K will be a one-mile youth race, free to all youth 12 and under. Awards and medals will be given to the top finishers in each male and female division.

Proceeds go to support YMCA child care and youth sports programs.

For more information, call the YMCA at 373-4167.

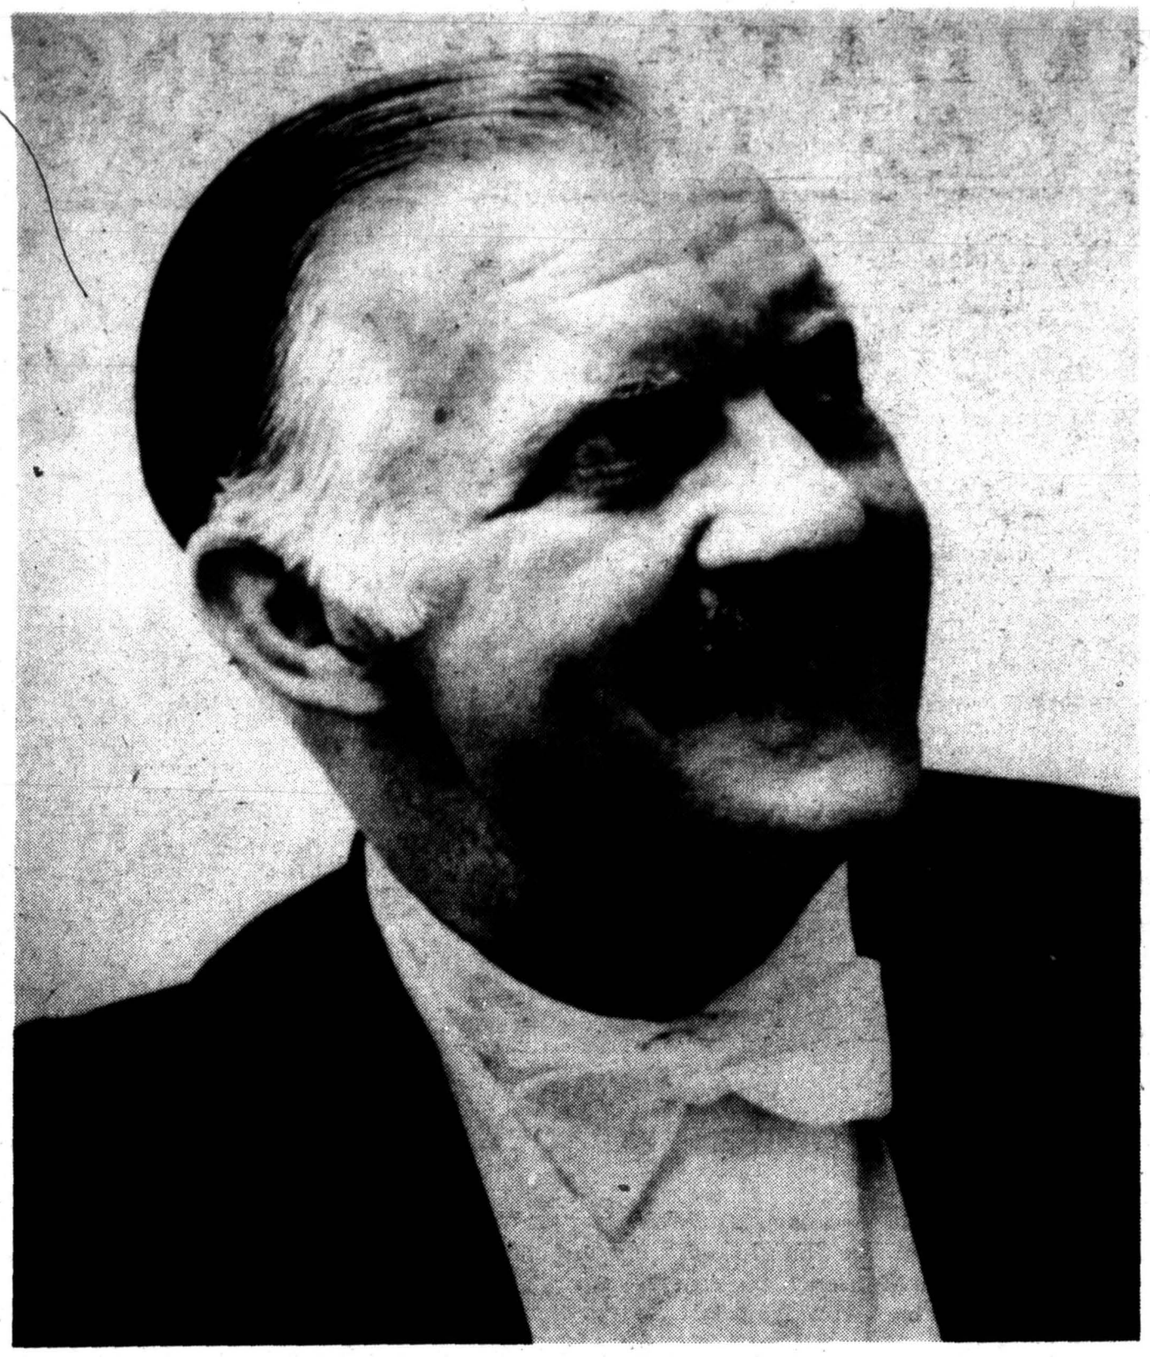
James Welch performs Mission organ concert

ORGANIST JAMES Welch will again perform the New Year's Eve organ concert at Carmel Mission Basilica.

Welch, a member of the music faculty at the University of California, Santa Barbara, will perform both classical and contemporary works. His repertoire is scheduled to include Fanfare to the Tongues of Fire by Larry King, Trumpet Minuet by Alfred Hollins, Praise the Father by Emma Lou Diemer, God of Grace by Paul Manz, Rhumba by Robert L. Moore and The Abba Dabba Honeymoon by Arthur Fields and Walter Donovan.

Among the classical works Welch plans to perform are Toccata in F Major by J.S. Bach and Fugue in G Minor by Adam Reincken.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 31. Admission is $5. For additional information, call 624-1271.



JORGE BOLET returns to Carmel on Sunday, Jan. 3 for a performance sponsored by the Keyboard Artist Series. His concert will begin at 4 p.m. in Sunset Theater. For ticket information, call 624-0797.

Jorge Bolet performs Jan. 3

ON SUNDAY, Jan. 3, at 4 p.m. the Keyboard Artist Series will present the Cuban pianist Jorge Bolet in a recital at Sunset Theater in Carmel.

Bolet, desribed by the New York Times as "the greatest living exponent of the kind of playing practiced by such great giants of the past as Hofmann, Rachmaninoff and Lhevinne," is returning to Carmel's Sunset Theater for the third time.

Bolet has been recording the complete works of Franz Liszt for London Records, and one of the pieces to be performed in his Carmel recital, the "Paraphrase on Themes" from Bellini's Norma, is a new work in Bolet's repertoire and will be recorded in London next month.

Other works on Bolet's program are Prelude and Fugue in E Minor and Rondo Capriossoso by Mendelssohn, Beethoven's "Appassionata" Sonata and Caesar Franck's Prelude, Chorale and Fugue.

A limited number of tickets will be available at the box office on the afternoon of the performance. For further information, call Keyboard Artist Series at 624-0797.

PLANES, TRAINS & AUTOMOBILES: John Hughes (The Breakfast Club), directs his first "adult" comedy about two travellers who get stuck with each other instead of their families on Thanksgiving. Steve Martin and John Candy star. Rated R. At the State Cinema. 372-4555.

ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW: A send-up of remembered monster movies, with the added twist of music — "The Time Warp," "Over at the Frankenstein Place," and an audience that seems to know the lines better than the actors. A long-standing cult classic. Rated R. At the Dream Theater. 372-1331.

THE RUNNING MAN: Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in this futuristic thriller about a life-and-death game show (hosted by none other than Richard Dawson of Family Feud) in which contestants are pitted in a "game" that almost always ends in their death. Schwarzenegger plays the title character. Also stars Yaphet Kotto and Maria Conchita Alonzo. Rated R. At the Hill Theatre. 375-2800.

SIGN O' THE TIMES: The Antwerp and Brussells, Belgium shows by rock star Prince are captured in this live concert film featuring music from the similarly titled album. Directed by Prince. At the Dream Theater. 372-1331.

SUSPECT: Cher and Dennis Quaid star as an attorney and a juror in a murder trial who not only get involved with each other in an illegal liaison, but may have information that could reveal the real killer in this romantic thriller. Rated R. At the Hill Theatre. 375-2800.

THREE MEN AND A BABY: Comedy based on a French film stars Ted Danson, Tom Selleck, and Steve Guttenberg as three women-chasing bachelor roommates who suddenly find themselves "fathers" of a baby. Directed by Leonard Nimoy. Rated PG. At Cinema 70. 373-4777.

THROW MOMMA FROM THE TRAIN: Danny DeVito and Billy Crystal star in this black comedy about a man (Devito) who asks a total stranger (Crystal) to kill his cruel and overbearing mother. Directed by DeVito. Rated PG-13. At The Crossroads Cinema. 624-2792.

WALL STREET: Michael Douglas stars as a ruthless Wall Street corporate raider who takes a young charge (Charlie Sheen) under his wing, exposing him to a treacherous and corrupt side of high finance. Also stars Martin Sheen as Sheen's father and Daryl Hannah as the love interest. Directed by Oliver Stone (Platoon). Rated R. At the State Theater. 372-4555.

THE WHALES OF AUGUST: Lillian Gish and Bette Davis star in this tale of two quarreling sisters who live in a cottage on the coast of Maine. Co-stars Vincent Price, Ann Sothern and Harry Carey Jr. Directed by Britain's Lindsay Anderson. At the Dream Theater. 372-1331.

WISH YOU WERE HERE: Emily Lloyd plays a sexually precocious and impertinent adolescent coming of age in a small, dreary seaside English village where her every move is seen and frowned upon by the locals in this British comedy. She's lonely, but rarely alone and is in full command of her female prowess, which she uses to great advantage. Rated R. At the Dream Theater. 372-1331.

Daniel E. Greene slates Carmel workshops in pastel portraiture

DANIEL E. Greene N.A., a leading American portrait painters and pastel artist, will be in Carmel, Jan. 10-15 to teach a week-long portraiture workshop at the All Saints Church. Greene's work is represented in more than 200 public and private collections, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art. His list of portrait subjects includes leaders of American industry, banking, education and government.

Greene is the author of two books, Pastel (now in the sixth printing) and The Art of Pastel (published world-wide in French, Italian, German, Spanish and English). He has received virtually every major award and medal in national exhibitions and has served on the faculty of the National Academy of Design and the Art Students League of New York. Greene now conducts private workshops at his studio in North Salem, New York, and in selected cities across the country.

NATIONAL ACADEMY member Daniel E. Greene will lead portraiture workshops in oil and pastel in Carmel from Jan. 10 through 15. For registration information, call 422-6001.

The Carmel workshop will begin Sunday Jan. 10, at 7 p.m. with a demonstration of the techniques of painting a portrait in oils. A similar demonstration will be given Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 7 p.m. on painting a portrait in pastel.

These demonstrations will be open to the public for a $15 fee.

Workshop participants will be admitted free. Workshop artists will study six hours a day, Monday through Friday, under the personal direction of the artist. Models will pose for all sessions and artists may work in either oil or pastel.

Greene was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1934 and studied at the Art Studies League where he was the recipient of both the Thekla M. Bernays and Helen Herzberger Scholarships. In 1967, he was elected to the National Academy of Design and began teaching there as well as serving on the Council. He was elected to full Academicianship in 1969 and served as treasurer to the Academy.

Art critic Maurice De Vinna, in recommeding Greene as a teacher, stated: "Greene's style is ... based on an exquisite sensibility and an absolute command of the medium ... Any art student would profit from studying Greene's oil painting. No art student should fail to study his pastels."

For further information about either the demonstrations or the workshop, contact Des Matthews at 422-6001.

THE ACTING COMPANY

Amy Caroll Bernstein's works shown

Local artist Amy Caroll Bernstein will open an exhibit of her work Tuesday, Jan. 5 in the Marjorie Evans Gallery located in the Sunset Cultural Center in Carmel. The show will run through Jan. 29.

Bernstein received her art degrees at UCLA and UC Davis, and has been a resident of the Monterey Bay area for many years. She taught art at the Carmel Middle School and has instructed classes in Los Angeles, New York, and Maui, Hawaii. Her paintings are in private collections in the United States and Canada.

The imaginative work done by the artist creates a profound effect on the viewer taking one on inward flights of fantasy into his/her own visionary center. Married to photographer Lou Bernstein, the two have complemented each other's work in recent exhibitions.

Following a reception the gallery on Jan. 8. Bernstein will present a multi-image event in Carpenter Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The Evans Gallery is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Sunset Center is located on San Carlos between Eighth and 10th Streets in Carmel.

For information call 624-3996.

FOCUS

FRIENDS OF CARMEL UNIFIED SCHOOLS
P.O. BOX 221088
Carmel, CA 93922

WE SHARE, YOU CAN TOO.

FOCUS (Friends Of Carmel Unified Schools) is a charitable, non-profit corporation whose purpose is to raise funds and to spend those funds for the benefit of the students of the Carmel Unified School District. FOCUS is an all-volunteer group of parents, teachers, and interested citizens.

Funds raised by FOCUS are applied directly to the classroom. Over the years expenditures by FOCUS have included everything from the purchase of computers and computer programs for all schools, to the acquisition of field guides for high school biology classes, to the of tricycles for use by kindergarteners.

Sometime after the first week of November, most residents of the school district will be receiving a one-time State of California rebate. The minimum rebate will be $32.00; some persons will receive over $200.00.

FOCUS is asking you to SHARE this windfall with the students of the Carmel Unified School District. Each week we will publish the names of those persons who have chosen to SHARE. Please take a few moments to complete the attached pledge and return it to us. When your pledge is received, your name will be added to our honor roll.

When you SHARE your rebate with us, you can rest assured that all funds raised by FOCUS will be spent by FOCUS for the education of our children. Contributions to FOCUS are tax deductible for taxpayers who itemize.

Sincerely yours,

Sidney M. Morris

NOTICE OF PUBLIC REVIEW

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the County of Monterey, State of California is seeking written comment on the DRAFT Environmental Impact Report on the CACHAGUA AREA PLAN project in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act of 1970. This review period is established for the purpose of receiving written comments on the accuracy and adequacy of the Environmental Impact Report together with other information relative to the environmental effect of the project. The overall project will consist of:

The development of a detailed area plan that will supplement and amend the Monterey County General Plan for the Cachagua Planning Area to provide a greater level of detail in planning policy for this area.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that said comments will be received until the following date: February 5, 1988 at 5:00 p.m.

The final EIR will include all comments received and responses to those issues which are significant. Copies of this report are available at the Monterey County Planning Department in Salinas or may be reviewed at the following locations: the Carmel Valley Village and Greenfield Branches of the Monterey County Library.

A Public Hearing before the Board of Supervisors, to certify the EIR as complete and adequate will be held subsequent to this review at a time and place to be specified by legal ad in a local newspaper of general circulation.

Art center sponsors all-day draw

An "All-Day Draw," in which a cooperative group of artists and students share the cost of professional art models, is planned the first Saturday of each month at the Pacific Grove Art Center.

Cost is $10 for the day, $6 per half day. All-Day Draw hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Artists and students will work independently at easels and tables provided. There will be a potluck lunch for those who choose to participate. To sign up, call the center, 375-2208, or Anita Benson, 649-4657.

Jacks Peak Park now open daily

Jacks Peak Regional Park is now open to the public eight hours per day.

Current operating hours are 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. daily. However, these hours will vary during the year as the days grow longer and shorter.

Current fees for Jacks Peak Park are $1 per car Monday through Thursday and $2 per car Friday, Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Annual day-use passes are available at the Parks Department office in Salinas for $30. For information, call 424-1971.

Mensa schedules qualifying test

Mensa, the "International High I.Q. Society," will administer qualifying tests in Monterey at 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 16. Reservations should be requested by writing to Francis Carter, 1029 Forest Ave., Pacific Grove, 93950. Further information will then be sent.

Membership in Mensa, which has chapters throughout the world, is open to all who score higher than 98 percent of the general population on standard I.Q. tests. Individuals may also qualify for Mensa if they have already obtained a score at or above the 98th percentile on the S.A.T. or any of several other nationally standardized tests of intelligence.

Information about Mensa and qualifying scores on other tests may be obtained by writing to American Mensa, Ltd., 2626 E. 14th St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11235-3992.

A Very Happy New Year

From all of us at the Mitchell Group!

CELEBRATE THE NEW YEAR

BY ACQUIRING this two-acre site on the Pebble Beach "Gold Coast" for your very own home overlooking the 13th tee of the Pebble Beach golf links and the blue Pacific beyond. Sloping gently down to the golf course from the 17-Mile-Drive, this lot is the last in this exclusive area of well-established homes. Enjoy privacy amid surroundings of unsurpassed natural beauty! $1,450,000.

A TOAST

IN CHAMPAGNE to this fine home on the 17th green of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club's Dunes Course. There are high open beam ceilings in living room, dining room, and family room, all of which—including the kitchen — face the golf course. A big open fireplace warms both living and family rooms. In addition, three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, and double garage with golf cart storage. $450,000.

KICK UP YOUR HEELS

IN DELIGHT at this beautifully maintained and comfortable family home in Carmel's Hatton Fields. It's located on a half-acre site at the end of a cul-de-sac, so there's loads of privacy for you and your family. Features include a big step-down living room with fireplace, and raised game area at one end...spacious dining room (could be a family room)...nice kitchen...three good bedrooms...guest suite downstairs...and a wonderfully warm feeling throughout. $495,000.

A NEW YEAR'S PRESENT

TO YOURSELF...an income stream from this appealing Victorian in the heart of downtown Pacific Grove. It has three units — a studio and a shop downstairs, and another studio upstairs. The property is zoned commercial, and would be suitable for gallery, shop or office. $198,000.

The House of Many Beginnings

One hardly knows where to being with this one-of-a-kind house. For starters, it's right on the beach, one of only nine houses in Carmel that actually reaches the waterline. The only thing between it and the sand is a stout iron fence.

Another approach is the driveway, which leads off Scenic Drive above 8th and comes through an electric gate to a parking plaza and 2-car garage. The front door faces a high Santa Maria stone wall with a small waterfall dropping down from its top. Flower beds and a stone terrace lead to the door.

The entrance opens to the dining room, an Italian marble paved space a few stops above the spacious living room. The looks out to a tremendous vista of sea, sand, Carmel Point, Pescadero Point and Point Lobos, through tinted, one-way windows surrounding 2 sides of the room. In the enclosed yard outside is a swim-spa, terrace, barbeque, oceanside shower and several stairs leading up to various levels of the house.

From the dining room you may go left up two marbled steps to a spectacular breakfast alcove and the long narrow kitchen. This again has marble counters and top-of-the-line appliances, most of them hidden. At the end, a door opens to the double garage.

Or you can turn right down a carpeted staircase to two bedrooms, 1½ baths, and a large, mirrored "weight room," a fully equipped gym. There is access to the beach from this level.

Or you can turn right down a carpeted staircase to two bedrooms, 1½ baths, and a

Another stairway leads up from the dining room to the master suite. The stair is bright, with full skylighting above and glass block wall above the kitchen. At the top is an enormous bath with mirrored walls, dressing room, and separate chamber with commode and bidet. A sun roof is just outside the door, and a large Jacuzzi protected by glass walls promises true Roman luxury.

The bedroom here has a greenhouse front facing the sea, a rolling drapery for privacy, Santa Maria stone walls and an elevated fireplace (one of 3 in the house).

Hy-Tide (as it is called) is completely furnished, and but for 2 paintings, everything comes with it: dishes, towels, silver, tables, chairs, sofas, pillows, stereos in almost every room, TV sets, security system, lamps, telephone and gymnasium paraphernalia.

There is nothing to compare with this place. You can being to live in it immediately. It's $1,650,000 — 2400 sq. ft. less than one year old. If you can think of a convenience that isn't here, you are very imaginative!

CARMEL LEGENDS

No. 47, Part 2

For more than 50 years (1930-80) Nielson Brothers Market occupied their original location on Dolores near 8th, expanding from one building to another, with uneven floors, nooks and crannies for gourmet foodstuffs, a confusing but always orderly display of quality foods. Competition disappeared over the years and, by great good fortune, Carmel laws prevented the entrance of "chain stores." In 1959 a new generation entered the picture in the person of MERV SUTTON, who married WALTER'S daughter, Nancie, the happy ending of a Carmel High School romance. He began to take over some of the duties of "Mr. Inside," (WALTER), making sure customers had what they wanted, supervising service in-store and out; and "Mr. Outside," (HAROLD), establishing sources of quality meats, produce and wines, soliciting long term customers, representing the store in community activities. In 1980, having acquired Harold's share in 1962 and a few years later Walter's as well, Merv moved the store from Dolores Street to a new building at San Carlos and 7th. He added a much-needed aprking garage, erected a valued (and funny) Carmel map designed by Bill Bates and Carol Minou, and created an unassailable new slogan: "The super/nonsupermarket." With these dramatic changes, some equally dramatic shifts occurred. For instance, 80% of volume comes now from walk-in traffic, as compared to 30-40% in earlier years. The earliest and best fruits and vegetables, and the finest meats, are still found at NIELSEN'S; the broadest selection of wines, cheeses, snacks and staples. HAROLD has passed on, but WALTER still appears almost every day. You'll forgive us for a little special pride in this "legend." It is truly vintage Carmel!
